On Saturday night some stray rebels captured three soldiers of the 14th Kentucky cavalry at the house of John C. Hall, near North Middletown, in Bourbon county. The impudent daring of the act may be estimated when we consider that the spot is about equidistant from Mt. Sterling, Winchester, and Paris on the east, south, and west, and not more than ten or twelve miles from either place where there are large detachments of Federals This looks as if there was a great necessity for the rigid enforcement of the recent order of Gen. Burnside against rebel sympathizers. Confederate soldiers would not thus rashly venture within our lines unless they had friends there to warn them of danger, and let them know when their visits might be made with impunity. These roving depredators are not belligerents they are horse thieves, and to avoid arrest under civil process they profess to be Confederate soldiers, and while they are picking up horses, mules, and anything of value that comes in their way, they make an arrest, or take a prisoner now and then, to keep up their assumed character.

Amongst the list of prisoners sent to Camp Chase recently was one Albert J. Green, who, it seems, answered the description of a young man who enlisted at New Orleans in the rebel army when the war broke out. His relatives live in Jeffersonville, and "tenderly regard" the cause in which he is battling. A short time since they wrote to their relative at Camp Chase, and the answer to their letter left no room for doubt in their minds as to his identity. They at once provided themselve with a fine lot of clothing and innumerabl luxuries, and, in company with a prominent lady of this city, left for Camp Chase. When they arrived at that place they were confronted with one of the most dilapidated, wo-begone specimens of humanity that ever appealed to the mercies of the human heart. He was a counterfeit, and the first glance convinced the tender relatives of the fact. They left suddenly for home, congratulating themselves that their loved one was still at liberty, but sorely chagrined at the expensive outlay for his comfort. They failed to find any object of compassion at Camp Chase, and brought the articles home with them. They may be useful before the

The number of convicts in the State prison at Jeffersonville is very small at present, and applications are made almost daily for hands at that institution. An effort was made a short time since to have enough convicts trans-stocks in the shipyard of Messrs. Howard, and some sixty or seventy men are now employed by them. For some time past business has been clogged for want of timber, but we learn that they are now amply supplied, and the work is going on smoothly.

CELEBRATION OF SHILOH AT RUSSELLVILLE. CAMP 26TH REG. KY. VOLS., RUSSELLVILLE, KY., April 8, 1863. Yesterday, the 7th of April, the anniversary of the last day's great battle of Shiloh, was the bright canopy of Heaven. There was no rude element without. All was quiet, beautiful, and serene. There was nothing to remind us of civil discord and war. No evidence of carnage and bloodshed, except as viewed through the veil of the past. No horrid scenes of mangled and dying men. But far, far different were the circumstauces which surrounded us one year ago, standing as we were, on the banks of the Tennessee, drenched with rain, cold, benumbed, and disconsolate. The future seemed indeed dark and gloomy; our army had been elmost crushed on the previous day; upon every side were men who had fled and left their comrades to battle with the stubborn their comrades to battle with the stubborn foe, who, like a mighty anaconda, was stretched around them. Many incidents were related which tended to demoralize our forces. But officers and men had too much moral cour age to let anything swerve them from their duty; and they went forth like men to meet the common foe of their country. It is use-less to mention what transpired during that terrible day. But, suffice it to say, that the army of the Federal Government fully retrieved what they had before lost, and drove the enemy in confusion from that bloody field. That day reflects much grandeur on the victors of that most stubbornly of tested battle in the annals of any history. of this post deemed it appropriate and proper to celebrate its anniversary. At 1 o'clock P. M., the 26th Kentucky and Maj. Holloway's battalion of the 8th Kentucky cavalry were drawn up in line on the public square. The celebration commenced by unfurling the old banner which was presented to the 26th Kentucky by the lovely and patriotic ladies of Owensboro, and which has been borne by the recipients in triumph over many miles of the enemy's territory. It was raised miles of the enemy's territory. It was raised amid a general presentation of arms and deaf-ening cheers, after which Col. Maxwell, being termination never to cease his efforts in this struggle until every rebel yielded obedience to the laws of the country. He did not advocate or justify the policy of the Administration. But he was for crushing the armies of treason North as well as in our own State that wished the Government to lay down its arms and submit to a peace dictated by our enemies. He was followed by Brig. Gen. Shackelford, who made an eloquent and touching speech. He alluded to the occasion as being too sacred to be forgotten by the American people. to be forgotten by the American people. He portrayed in vivid terms the condition of the loyal men of Kentucky provided the rebellion succeeded, and exposed in appropriate language those who under the guise of loyalty are trying to palsy the arm of the Government by getting up dissension, division, and party strife in our midst. SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY AND NEWS .- A Belan glass-blower has lately blown two large ottles, each of a capacity of sixty-two and a bottles, each of a capacity of sixty-two and a half gallons, and weighing fifty pounds. They were blown at the glass-works of Lefevre & Co, at Lodelingart, and are nearly double the size of the largest bottles heretofore made.

A letter from Athens says: "A company has been formed in Greece for cutting through the Isthmus of Corinth, and thus avoid the long and dangerous coasting of the shores of the Peloponesus. The width of the canal would be 112 feet, and its depth about 20 feet. Its length would not exceed three miles and three quarters. Thus animal milk contains a large quantity of caseine, which is the principal substance in cheese; and peas also contain a large amount of the same substance. The Chinese, who have exhibited such an aptitude for donestic economics that they even make soup of birds' nests, have also found out that cheese can be made of peas. For this purpose peas are boiled into a thin paste, then passed through a sieve, and an acid added to the pea solution, which becomes curdled like sweet milk by the action of the common rennet upon the latter. The solid part is then salted, pressed into cheese-moulds, and it gradually acquires the taste and smell of cheese. Novelties in Fastion.—The Parisian fore for birds and butterflies, as decorative a rore for birds and butterflies, as decorative appliances, has reached this country, and promises to inaugurate a new era in artificial ornaments. Humming-birds were first imported last winter for head-dresses by Madame Tilman, and created such a demand as became difficult to supply. Imitation birds would not do; it was necessary they should be genuine and natural. One dealer in stuffed birds sold five hundred humming-birds, which belonged to his old stock, upon which he realized a to his old stock, upon which he realized a small fortune. The latest improvement or his idea is one also introduced by the same ady, and consists of a branch with ripe cheries hanging from it, and a bird in the act of flying from its little nest, in which is deposited tiny eggs. The conception is perfectly nov.l, forming a surprisingly beautiful and effective garniture for lace and tarlatan dresses, as well pure as a snow-wreath, and sweet as a a apple-blossom, or the saucy, yet wonderfully stylish high-crowned round hats for travelling and country wear. The new Indian foulards, in all the recent and most fashionable Paris de-signs, are the rage of the season in dress ma-terials. In dark and neutral grounds, and small purple or violet figures, they are suitable for morning costume; trimmed with a ruching of taffetas, the shade of the figure, and in white ground and chints figures, they consti-

AN EASTERN STORY .- When Alexander had was told that the river Nithebel led to it, and immediately ordered a fleet to be equipped to carry his troops thither, but previously despatched a few vessels to procure information. When they had reached the Garden of Parawhen they had reached the Garden of Paradise, his people found the gate shut, and before it an aged keeper of singular appearance, and with an extraordinary beard, whom they commanded to open the gate immediately for their master, who was not far behind them. The hoary keeper smiled, and said he durst not admit him unless he could find means to weigh down a feather, which he heave it. reigh down a feather, which he herewith ent, when placed in the balance. The mes-enger was astonished, for he could not coneive how a small feather (since it was only a ght downy feather) could have such weight, and concluded that the old man was jeering

HE ATTACK ON CHARLESTON .- The anxiety earn definite news from Charleston is ine, but there is no reason to apprehend disbecause we have only meagre intellice. Bad news travels fast, and if we had ienced any reverse of magnitude we uld have heard of it, in every possible m of exaggeration, through the rebel ers. We have details of the first day's nbardment from the Charleston Mercury, nich acknowledges that on Tuesday, the 7th, e gun in Fort Sumpter was dismounted, the t hit thirty-four times, and seven of the rison killed or mortally wounded. This ows that our iron-clads can do effective sere, and, but for the obstructions placed in the in channels, they would have been ab le to the gauntlet of all the rebel batteries m Sullivan and Morris Islands to Castle nckney, anchored before the city, and deand its capitulation. When we consider e strength of the rebel defences, and the conntrated fire they could direct against our alf dozen vessels, we are astonished that ev suffered so little. The Keokuk, which as sunk, had turrets of wood and iron comned, as an experiment, with but one gun in ach, and that was not run out of the embraare before firing. For two years the rebels have en strengthening the defences of Charleston, nd the harbor is now a continuous chain of tteries, while torpedos, chains, booms, float ng batteries, and gunboats have also been proed. Admiral Dupont knew the difficulties and dangers of the attack, and doubtless felt is way at first, while he has been ascertaining the localities of the hidden instruments o eath. It will be remembered that a treendous explosion took place in Charleston arbor a few days ago, which, from its magniude, was supposed to have been caused by the emature discharge of some submarine batery. Whatever it was, it does not appear that t was a fort or any of the magazines. A conemporary infers, therefore, that it was a subnarine battery; and if, as the telegraph says. he explosion was felt by our fleet several niles distant, it must have been fatal to the ninor torpedoes which are planted in the haroor. In this view of the case accident has lestroyed one of the most formidable means of resistance on which the rebels relied. The mportance of this success, if such it be, cannot be over estimated. Our attacking force will doubtless devote tself at first to the removal of obstructions, and then it will seek some means of co-operating with the land troops in a general attack. Our iron-clads have stood three or four hours of the terrible fire, and this must increase the public faith in their efficiency, but we do not visional Congress. spect an easy victory. The rebels will figh with the energy of despair, and, as all the first accounts of the progress of the siege will come from them, we must bear in mind how mon strously Beauregard and the rebel papers lied concerning the sortie upon the blockading fleet, which will teach us not to place implici reliance upon what they say now. We anticipate ultimate success and the capture of the city, unless the rebels should make good their vaunt and burn it before surrender. Should they do this even, it will not be long before it will be rebuilt for the occupation of such Federal officials as may be necessary to enforce the revenue laws and break the spot up as a rendezvous for British pirates and blockade runners. Trusting in that Almighty power which has always conducted our nation to success, and animated by the reflection that our forces are fighting the most holy of all battles-that in defence of national honor-let us wait patiently and hope that before many days we shall receive the full assurance tha the viper's nest has been destroyed and that the ignominy of the fall of Sumpter under a rebel bombardment has been effaced by one of the most brilliant victories ever recorded in history.

Then you will stop the war, say the patri-ts, and give success to the rebels. That loesn't follow neither. We don't expect Congress to stop supplies and do nothing else Lou. Democrat.

Well, neighbor, what else do you expect Congress to do? Name it. If supplies should be stopped by the next Congress, the stopping would be only through the fixed disagreement of the two Houses concerning the policy of the Administration; but, if they should disagree mortally on that point, on what other considerable point touching the rebellion could they be brought to agree? Manifestly on no other, except the surrender of the government to the rebellion, the single result in which their unyielding adherence to opposite measures would unavoidably meet and unite. Stopping supplies means nothing more or less than stopping the war by withdrawing our armies and surrendering to the rebellion This is precisely what it means. It is simply the scheme to whose execution the secessionists and the abolitionists look for the consummation of their common purpose,—the dissolution of the Union on the slave line. It is nothing less. And in the execution of this scheme our neighbor of the Democrat is a thing, in fact, which they may have, which zealous worker.

No: he was doing the most he could do under the extraordinary circumstances to put the rebellion down, and tenfold more than he would have been doing if he had advocated the furnishing of troops, the Government itself being judge. DR. LUDLUM'S SPECIFIC, FOR THE CUBE OF Generahma, Gleets, Whites, Strictures,

COMPLAINTS OF THE ORGANS OF GENERATION. THE GONORRHEA, OR COMMONLY CALLED

Clap, is a disgusting malady, and is too well known to require any explanation; it is easy to be got, but it is difficult to get clear of. It is a companion that few admire; it pervades all classes of society-both male and female, both rich and poor, both mar-ried and single. Although so troublesome in itself, so distressing and sometimes fatal, it is a disease the treatment of which has generally been worse than the disease itself. The common fashionable treatment is, first, to deprive you of all business; then comes a course of starvation-living on bread and tea, water gruel, or some kind of slops; you must then be bled, cupped, or leeched, combined with nauseating medi cines, injections, lotions, ointments, and warm fo-mentations. Every few days the medicines are changed; and after some months' treatment in this way, which the patient bears with great fortitude for fear of exposure he is discharged, or discharges him selt, with an irritable urctor, a swelled testicle, ar nlargement of the prostrate gland, or a disease of the

This Specific, which acts like a charm, with a few doese on those diseases, and is quite pleasant to take and which has cured thousands in New York, Phila-delphia, Baltimore, and many of the Southern cities is a certain and effectual remedy, that makes a rapid and permanent cure, without regard to diet, drink, o exercise, except wrestling, jumping, or over straining This remedy is unequalled by anything yet discovered for the cure of those diseases. It is extracted from ou wn plants and is perfectly safe, as it is purely vegeta le. It contains no mercury, so that you can expose ourself to all kinds of weather, without the leas langer from the medicine. And if you are careful in wrapping up the paste, you will have no taste or smel rom it, so that you are not deprived from going into company, or being detected by your nearest friends. This is no quack medicine, but a remedy discover and used by a regular physician, and is confidently

A WORD ABOUT

MERICAN WATCHES. AFTER A THOROUGH TRIAL OF MORE THAN TEN YEARS, the time pieces manufactured by th American Watch Company, of Waltham, Mass., hav gained a firm hold upon the favor of the public, and now no less than 75,000 of them are speaking for them selves in the pockets of the people. From a very in significant beginning the business has increased t n extent exceeding our most sanguine anticipation ored Lustres, White Goods, Hosiery. MORE THAN ONE HALF of all the watches sold in the United States. Repeated enlargement of or factory buildings, and the labor of 500 operative French Cloths, and Fancy Linen Drills still find us unequal to supply the constantly increase ing demand. And we may here observe that notwitl iding the high price of labor and materials, we a

We refer to these facts only for the purpose of pro erly introducing another subject relative to our manufacture of watches. Hitherto our chief object has bee sible price-something to take the place of th make-believe watches called "Ancres," "Lepines, "English Patent Levers," &c., annually thrown upo this market in countless numbers, by European work shops—watches which are the refuse of their factor , unsalable at home and perfectly worthless every

This object we have accomplished, and now we have HIGHEST GRADE KNOWN TO CHRONOMETRY unequalled by anything hitherto made by ourselver and unsurpassed by anything made in the world. For this purpose we have the amplest facilities. We have rected an addition to our main buildings expressly for this branch of our business, and have filled it with the best workmen in our service. Profiting by ou ong experience, we have remodelled the form of our vatches, introducing such improvements as have been suggested and proved to be good from time to time and have instituted new and severe tests of isochron ism, adjustment, and compensation. New machine and appliances have been constructed, which perform heir work with consummate delicacy and exactitu choicest and most approved materials only an sed. Major-General Burnside paid a hurried visit to Connersville, Ind., last week, to see his brother who resides there. His coming was not generally known, yet he was met at the depot by a large concourse of citizens and welcomed by the Rev. Joseph Cotton. Gen. Burnside returned thanks for the cordia reception, and assured the people that he had honestly endeavored to do his duty in defending the Government against this wicked rebellion, and that he was still willing to devote all his physical and mental powers to the advancement of the cause in which all loyal hearts, all true friends o liberty, are now so deeply interested. He said, too, that in the present great conflict. no man had a right to do anything that would in the least enfeeble or embarrass the Government; that however much we might differ with the Administration in regard to the policy adopted, we should confine ourselves to a moderate and temperate expression of dissent; that the war must go on till the rebellion is at an end; we could not have honorable peace in any other way; that those in the North who were most clamorous for peace, were the most thoroughly detested by the leaders of the rebellion. And every loyal heart will respond to these patriotic utterances of the gallant Burnside. He is as sagacious in council as he is energetic in war. THE CONTINENTAL OLD FOLKS.—If any body supposes that these delightful vocalists are declined into the vale of years," let him go and see the Paige Sisters, and disabuse his mind. One of them has a sweet face, and one of the most silvery voices that ever gurgled through the ivory jets of the fountain of song, scattering its melodic spray with myriads o brilliants. Then, too, there is a basso profundo, the diapason of which swells like the thunder of "Niagara under the falls," where sounds are reverberated as if from the mighty caverns of old Enceladus, the son of earth, but still always in unison. A very agreeable adure of the Old Folks entertainment is the exhibition of the antique garments which have been presented to them, some of which are nearly two centuries old, and strange to say, the fashions of that remote time do not look so grotesque as those of the first quarter of the present century; the slouched or peaked hat of the former era being picturesque compared with the three-cocked hat and the bell crown of the latter. Every night's programme is varied, and this afternoon they have a performance at half-past two, when the Continental Congress of sweet singers ought to have a large audience.

SIGNAL TRAIN FOR ROSECRANS .- Captain Wonderly has reached here from Philadelphia, which place he left last week with a signal train intended for the use of Gen. Rosecran in the Army of the Cumberland. The train consists of six substantially built wagons, each containing a telegraph instrument, tool chest, , reels with five miles of wire, spears to e used as poles, and iron bars. The telegraph instruments are the most complete of their kind ever put in operation, and are much superior, both in the matter of economy and reliability, to the instruments now in general use. The dial instrument is used, and the electricity is generated at the time of operating, and without the use of acids. The instrumer is contained in a box, which can be readily carried by one man, and its mechanism is so simple that it is ready for use the instant the station in the field is selected. It is patented by Mr. Beardslee, of New York.

Our readers are cognizant of the fac hat almost every item of military news that would be of interest to them is contraband, and outside of military operations there has been a signal dearth of important news for several weeks past. The city is never without its thousand and one idle rumors of what some unknown person reports through .unknown disclosed and these rumors are proved to be lies, no one is found responsible. They were only "telegraphs." Rumors equally false and anreliable come to us as to what is to be done. "Great deeds are to be achieved," say these astute reporters, and thus the public mind is nisled as to what has been and what is to be. We have refrained from giving publicity to many such rumors of late, and time always proves the correctness of our policy regarding these flying sensations.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE. -The old song says of the faithful lover, "Rain could not keep him away," and so it was last night with the admirers of Adah Isaacs Menken, for despite the ling deluge, so acceptable to vernal vegetaand the farmers, the house was well filled. Her performance of Mazeppa is a wonderful piece of daring acting and graceful posturing ome may object to her dress when brought to historic fidelity as it is to nature, and we look at her, with implicit faith in the motto of the order of the Garter, as we would gaze on the statue of the Medicean Venus. Mazeppa will be repeated this evening.

Capt. J. S. Drum, of Gen. Gibbon's staff, Army of the Potomac, has been ordered West for duty, and has been assigned as Post Commissary at Nicholasville, Kentucky, Burnside's army. Capt. Ben. F. Reed and Adj't W. W. Sleeper, also of the Army of the Potomac, are his assistants. Capt. Drum was very highly complimented by the Department at Washington for promptness and efficiency while Quartermaster of Gibbon's division, and we feel assured that he will sustain his well earned reputation in his new department.

ANOTHER RAID, -A squad of rebel cavalry under Capt. Harris, made a dash into Franklin, Ky., Monday night, and captured the telegraph operator at that point. After appropriating his instruments he was released. They broke open some trunks in the depot and rifled then of their contents, after which they left for parts

The New York hrough the lines, and conveying information | Post' says there is no other instance in history o the rebels, has already been noticed. The where a nation has devoted itself as has the ville Dispatch:

A careful and thorough investigation has been made in this case. The guilt of Trainor of the highest crime recognized in either civil or military law is fully established. His operations extend back over a period of two years. He has occupied a position which gave him musual facilities for carrying out his designs, and he has not failed to take advantage of them to the best of his ability. Having had greater r less control of wagon trains since he en-ered the service, he has, if his own statements re reliable, on several occasions attempted to place trains in positions were they might be place trains in positions were they might be pasily captured. In addition to his own admission there is absolute proof of his treason. Connected with this case is that of the parles in Louisville concerned in the sale early nine thousand dollars worth of quini and opium to Mrs. Trainor. It is shown that those most interested in this sale must hav known that the medicines were purchased for the purpose of being smuggled South. Ed ward Wilder, of Louisville, the wholesale ward wilder, of Louisville, the wholesale druggist from whom the medicines were obtained, is shown to be strongly in sympathy with the rebels. He has sold large quantities of drugs since the opening of the war to persons who were to take them through the Union lines. By his last transaction of this kind he has involved his whole stock of goods. It is unprecessory to speak of the degree It is unnecessary to speak of the degree f guilt attached to each of the various parties compromised by sale to Mrs. Trainor. The vidence adduced in this matter with other eviice obtained, shows that other merchant f Louisville, and also merchants in New Ibany, Indianapolis, and Cincinnati have peen largely engaged in the sale of drugs and other goods for a Southern destination. The lans of the Government have been sadly in erfered with by the efforts of the disloyal, the principled, and the reckless at home dence the treason of those in the cities named who are connected with attempts to supply the ebels medicine or other articles. It matters oot that their agency in such attempts is nerely secondary, they are none the less culty as smugglers and aiders and abettors of he enemy, and are liable to the punishmen those who are thus trafficking, regardless of law and the interests of the nation, it may be proper to state that there is connected with the Army f the Cumberland a thorough police organ ion, connected with which is a complete de ive system. Its accomplishments thus far full attest the wisdom of Gen. Rosecrans in estab shing it. At its head is a man of indomi-able energy. Commanders in other depart-ments co-operate with him in carrying out his lans. His officers traverse far and near, and re as likely to be found before the counter of ome enterprising adventurer in contraban rade at Cincinnati, or Indianapolis, as at th leadquarters in this city. The methods adopted to detect offenders in Louisville will brin light the schemes of others. Crime is hence orth to be punished. The day of leniency past, and prompt, stern justice is being meted out. Spies, smugglers, and others have given their lives as the penalty of their offences in

The Editor of the Nashville Union re ently paid a visit to the rural districts of Tennessee, where he saw everything looking bright and beautiful, heard the "songs of sweet pirds," was refreshed and reanimated, and among other things, says: "The production of grain, potatoes, etc., will fall far below the verage yield, there being so much less ground n cultivation than is usual. Many fine farms are almost entirely unenclosed, and no steps are being made to restore the fences. But few are attempting to raise more of the products of the farm than will supply their own consumption. We were glad of the chance to settle for ourself the fruit question. Upon examination of the blooms of several kinds of fruit-peaches particularly-we found that they had generally escaped the ill effects of the recent frosts. The damage done them was small, and, unless they are cut off hereafter, we may expect an excellent crop of EXCITEMENT AT HAWESVILLE.—The Cannel ton (opposite Hawesville) Reporter is informed that on Tuesday night of last week about one undred armed men, supposed to be from the oack part of Hancock and from Ohio counies, Ky., arrived in the neighborhood o Hawesville, and sent a deputation into the town, who, calling upon Messrs. G. W. Mc-Adams, George W. Williams, Robert Beauchamp, William Sterrett, and John Martin, denanded that each of them pay, within twenty days, the sum of one thousand dollars fo the benefit of the widow of Mr. Hale, who was shot by some persons believed to be rebel sympathizers on last Saturday night. What this movement will result in is difficult to determine. Nothing pleasant, we fear. If his demand has been made without authority rom the military commander of the district ne should see that no outbreak grows out of t, and have a sufficient number of troops near Hawesville to preserve the peace.

HON. ROBERT MALLORY .- In announcing that this gentleman is a candidate for re-elec ion to Congress from this District, the Frankort Commonwealth says:

He has made a most excellent and faithful Representative, and his re-election will giv great satisfaction to the loyal me 1 of the State. As a general rule we do not meddle with the affairs of other districts, but in this in-stance we cannot, in view of Mr. Mallory's eminent services, forego an expression of a lesire to have him again at Washington

A graceful and well-deserved compl ment is bestowed by the Boston Post when i says the correct and expeditious manner in which business upon the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is transacted is attributable mainly to the efficient services-intelligence and ac tivity-of its master of transportation, Wm. DEVELOPMENTS OF THE TRAINOR CASE.—The THE REBEL CRY FOR BREAD.—Of all people NOTICES OF THE DAY. crest of John Trainor at Nashville, a clerk in in the world those of the seceding States were ollowing facts developed in the investigation | South to the growing of cotton-a product of the case have been furnished to the Nash- which certainly cannot be used as human food In this respect the war is of a character su gene: is; and the inferences drawn from other contests can not with strict propriety be apolied in this case. We have the stubborn facts that from numerous places at the South the market reports speak of flour as varying from fifty to one hundred dollars per barrel; pork one dollar to one dollar and eighty cents pe ound, and most other necessaries of life in roportion. The New York World accounts or these frightful prices by the depreciation of Confederate money and the inability to transport produce from one locality to another owing to the railroads being otherwise engaged. These explanations, however, fall far short of accounting for all the existing distress. For at no point in the insurrectionary country are the prices of food moderately low, even if the currency be reduced to a specie standard. Say the gold dollar is worth four and a half of Confederate paper, still the barrel of flour selling at sixty dollars in currency com mands over thirteen dollars in specie. Yet this though more than twice as high as ordinarily is little more than half of what it is to-day selling for in some localities. The Southern States are certainly large enough to produc grain and wheat sufficient to feed the whole continent. But it must be borne in mind that the agricultural section in particular has been ravaged as scarcely ever before was any country by both contending armies. The horses have been impressed into the rebel service the oxen have been nearly all consumed a food. Fences are destroyed for hundreds of square miles together. The negroes in the frontier States have disappeared. But were the laborers, the horses, the oxen, the seeds and the means required to plant in even such abundance; were the fences and buildings restored; the fact that the harvest may be impressed by agents of the so-called government will deter farmers from planting more than is necessary for their bare sustenance. We append some extracts from Confederate papers concerning the recent bread riots which are important for their apologies, their inferences, and their facts. The Richmond Sentinel of the 7th has the following editorial:

The Richmond Riot - When the public peace was for a time somewhat disturbed here o Thursday last, it was suggested to us, and to the rest of the city press, by many citizens, to refrain from any present notice of it, on account of the misrepresentations and exaggeraions to which a publication would give rise In assenting to the suggestion, in company with all the other papers, we felt that we were only paying a decent respect to the opinions of gentlemen certainly as well qualified to judge as ourselves—equally interested, to say the least, in a correct judgment—and entitled to deference on other grounds. Our compliance deference on other grounds. Our compliance was voluntary and in good faith. We thus became a party to the reserve. We have no repentance for this, nor have we any quarrel, r any reproaches where our hand has been iven. We have not even any regrets. On

he contrary, we are glad that time was taken to ascertain facts with precision, and thus to prevent errors which a precipitant notice might have assisted to spread. It can now be said, upon authority of the sworn evidence, that the conduct of a few misguided women, who, on Thursday, availed themselves of the tenderness with which their to suffering. Themselves, and the thieves in pantaloons who took shelter in their company, simply plundered milliners' goods, dry goods, fancy goods, &c., fully as much as more necessary articles. It was no cry for bread; it was no riot, so far as they placed their action on any declared basis. It was opposition to the high prices; and upon this point they took shelter under the abstract sympathy of such as believe that speculators and extortioners ave made the prices so high, and dispose

But it is now proven that there was no distress among those persons; that the very leader was independent, and herself an extortioner; that there has been abundant provision made for the poor who may need it; and that the whole thing was simply a plundering raid under female impunity, An ebullition such as we have noticed would have excited no attention outside of the quiet South, where good order is so uniform and so universal. It amounts to nothing here.

Under the local heading is a "riot case," where Dr. Thomas M. Palmer, charged with couraging a riot in the streets of the city, pears before Recorder Caskie, with his coun-General George W. Randolph and John A. Gilmer, Esq. His loyalty to the Confederacy was vouched by the Secretary of the Navy and members of both branches of Conhat took Florida out of the Union, and has been in the Confederate service from an early period of the war. The testimony was to the effect that he refused to depart when the crowd was ordered by the Governor and the Mayor The presence of the Governor and Mayor, ne character and standing of the counsel employed, and the class of witnesses called by the defence, indicate plainly that there was more than the "ebullition" which the Sentinel would have us believe.

Under the heading of "Bread Destitution" the Richmond Whig of the 8th inst. says:
"Lee Mallory, the lessee of Metropolitan Hall, has established a depot at the Hall for the distribution of twenty-four hundred loaves of bread per month to the needy families of soldiers in the field. The Ladies' Benevolent ociety superintend the distribution, which takes place on Tuesday and Friday of each week, the beneficiaries being furnished with ickets for the bread.

The Raleigh (N. C.) Standard, of March 23 gives an account of a bread riot that had just taken place near that city. A company of women, most of them soldiers' wives, went to re of William Welch, at High Poin lled out several barrels of molasses, and divided it. The Standard remarks on this oc-currence: "Welch is a great war man, and favors general impressment of supplies by the army. How does he like the principle of imressment as applied in his case?

The same paper gives particulars of other riots, and referring to them editorially exclaims: "Bread riots have commenced, and where they will end God only knows." A letter is copied by the Standard from another North Carolina paper, giving an account of prother riotors outbreak of the women at nother riotous outbreak of the women a alisbury, in that State, a place with which ome of our soldiers have become acquainted letter is dated March 19th, and says: "There was a mob raised here yesterday, consisting mostly of soldiers' wives, and led on by hunger, I suppose, and hatred against speculators. They armed themselves with hatchets and congregated at the depot for the purpose of breaking in, if necessary, and getting some flour stowed away by some speculator."

The agent refused them admittance, but finally agreed to let three of the women in, and said if any more got in they would have to walk over him. At this a large, stalwart woman made at him with a hatchet. He backed, and they rolled out ten barrels of lour owned by a man in Charlotte, and had t hauled up.

subsequently they appropriated several bags of salt, belonging to private parties. They also marched to the store of one Mr. Brown, a speculator in flour, and demanded to be let in; but the door was closed, and they went to work in good earnest to break it down. Mr. Brown to satisfy them, told them he would Brown, to satisfy them, told them he would ive them ten barrels if they would leave and et him alone. They finally agreed to it and ent for a dray to haul it to the market house, the purpose of making an equal division

Next in order they visited Dr. J. H. Enniss who had bought some flour for his own use He asked them in and gave them three barrels ext they said they must have some molasse and straightway they proceeded to Sprague & Bros., and made their demand known, when prague & Bros. gave them all the molasse ney had, which was a little over half a barre he mob then repaired to the markethouse then, it being too late to make out the shar f the impressment, they moved it to W. M. Baker's, where they are now dividing the oils among themselves.

A Bread Riotin Petersburg, Va.—The Suffolk correspondent of the Baltimore American writes, 7th instant, as follows: "I am just informed by a deserter that on last Wednesday he women of Petersburg, soldiers' wives and thers, rose en masse, and visiting the stores of affairs. It qualifies him to perform his labors with a proper estimation of what is due to and from all classes of men, and to maintain that exact propriety and justice which are the great safeguards of so immense an incorporation.

The second of the machinery for the execution of the new law for calling out the masses, and visiting the stores of the mercenary speculators who have been enriching themselves by holding all necessities of life at an enormous price, helped themselves forcibly to what they wanted, pitching out goods to the poor and needy as they went. My informant left Petersburg on Wednesday, and, sick of the war, is trying to get to a land of peace and plenty. He is intelligent, and says that the great mass of the people of Virginia, soldiers and all, are heartly sick of the war.

Main, opposite the National, has gone East— but did not take his store with him. His customers will bear that in mind.

ARRESTS OF REBELS IN OWEN COUNTY-A LIEUTENANT IN FEMALE CLOTHES FRANKFORT, KY., April 13, 1863.

The 106th Ohio stationed here and in com-ommand of this post have been very active and industrious in capturing returned rebels and spies. Last week, being informed by some Union refugees from Sweet Owen that 80 or 100 of Humphrey Marshall's thieves were playing the devil generally down there, they mounted some 44 picked men and started them down to see the true state of affairs. After having travelled over hill and dale they arrived near the town of Owenton, and the The Rumored Surrender of Foster captain of the squad being informed that there was some of these sweet-scented fellows so-courning at the rebel hotel of Mrs., or widow, Ford, he matured his plans and divided his equad so as to approach the town from four Case of the British Steamer Peterhoff! squad so as to approach the town from four directions, and at a given signal they all dashed in and surrounded the celebrated hotel, capturing two in five minutes, one captain and one private. Feeling satisfied that there was more game in the house they at once proceeded to make a search, and having reached a certain bed-room up stairs they found said bed occupied by two females apparently, but taking a closer look, one of the hawk-eyed 106th boys discovered side-whiskers upon one of the would-be ladies, and at once took him out, and sure enough it was the notorious Lieut. Berrill, dressed in woman's clothing. They took him down and Coccerning in Co woman's clothing. They took him down and out into the street and stripped him before an admiring crowd of men, boys, and she-rebels. He is now here a prisoner; so you see the 106th is doing something for their country.

UNION.

CULTIVATION OF FLAX.—The scarcity and high price of cotton will necessarily enhance the value of flax, which will undoubtedly be used as a substitute for cotton to a considerable extent. Farmers are therefore turning their attention to the cultivation of flax. In answer to various inquiries which we have eceived in regard to this subject, we copy the llowing remarks from an able report lately submitted to the New York State Agricultural Society by the Hon. J. Stanton Gould. Having stated that the soil best adapted to flax is that on which barley succeeds best—that is, a warm, deep loam—the report adds directions for cultivation, as follows: The most essential condition for the profita-

The most essential condition for the profitable growth of flax is good drainage, either natural or artificial. It is a waste of labor and money to sow flaxseed on land where water stagnates around the roots. The next is to plough the land deeply, and to pulverize it thoroughly. The roots of the flax will unless prevented by a hard subsoil, penetrate full haif the length of the straw into the ground, and the length and size of the straw, other things being equal, will depend upon the on the parapet and a salute of thirteen guns fired. DR. WM. H. GREGE:

Dear Sir: In February, 1861, I was afflicted with the sugar diabetes, and for five months I passed more than two gallons of water in 24 hours. I was obliged to get up as often as ten or twelve times during the night, and in five months I lost about fifty pounds in weight. During the month of July, 1861, I procured two bottles of Constitution Water, and in two days after using it I experienced relief, and after taking two bottles I was entirely cured, soon after regaining my usual good health.

Yours truly,
J. V. L. DE WITT.

Deer Sir: I have for several years been afflicted with that troublesome and dangerous disease—Gravel—which resisted all remedies and doctors, until I took ONSTITUTION WATER, and you may be assured that I was exceedingly pieused with the result. It has entirely cured me, and you may make any use of my name you may see fit in regard to the medicine, as I have entire confidence in its efficacy.

Yours truly,

POND STRONG.
